What the Picture Theaters Have to Tell You.

Helene Rosson, William Stowell, Margaret Gibson and the Famous Mutt & Jeff cartoons featured at the Pastime today.

Helene Rosson, the beautiful and talented young actress is featured today at The Pastime in "The Sheriff of Plumaz," a highly interesting western drama of early life on the plains. Assisting Miss Rosson is William Stowell, sharing first honors on the program with Helene Rosson is Margaret Gibson who is starred in "Avenged by Lions," a sensational and thrilling drama of life on the jungle and sea. Bud Fisher's Mutt & Jeff cartoon comes entitled "Mutt & Jeff on Outpost Duty," is also on the bill as also is the Vogue comedy, "Counterfeit Love," with Rube Miller and Madge Kirby.

Charlie Chaplin's Latest Comedy "The Fireman," at Pastime Sunday and Monday.

Charlie Chaplin, the famous $675,000 a year comedian, will be with his friends again Sunday and Monday at the Pastime in a brand new comedy which has never been shown before in Pendleton, entitled, "The Fireman." This is the second Mutual Chaplin has made since he signed his famous $675,000 contract with this company. Advice from Portland and other places where this picture has been exhibited say that "The Fireman" is far the best picture Charlie has ever made and one that will make his following talk for weeks to come. The Fireman will be shown at the Pastime Sunday and Monday.

Pauline Frederick Adds New Type of Characterization to Already Remarkable Screen Repertoire.

Pauline Frederick, noted for her characterization of fascinating and alluring women, as well as for her realistic portrayals of sweet, innocent girlhood, demonstrates her unusual versatility in the latest Famous Players-Paramount picture, based upon Israel Zangwill's "The Moment Before," appearing at the Alta Sunday and Monday. In this picture, Miss Frederick adds a new role to her remarkable screen repertoire, that of Madge, a gypsy maid. The story takes her from the camp of her brutal husband, John, into the employ of Harold, the second son of the aged Duke of Maldon. Her husband, suspecting the love affair existing between his wife and Harold, goes to seek her.

Lionel, the heir to the duke's estates, heartily disapproves of Madge, and while arguing with her is killed by John. Harold, who had quarreled with his brother previous to the murder, is suspected and advised to flee by the duke. John and Madge, also fearing capture, take refuge in Australia, where Harold, the present heir, is in hiding, unbeknown to them. The trio meet again and a fight ensues in which John is murdered at the hands of his wife. The couple return to England; they marry and rule jointly over the deceased Duke's vast territories. Many years elapse in the aftermath. Madge recalls the prophecy once told her by a fortune-teller, that the hour of her death would occur at the stroke of noon. Wishing to leave the world with a lighter heart, she devotes her time and wealth to the care of the poor. Whether or not the prophecy of death is fulfilled is unfolded in the further development of this tense Zangwill story.

Miss Frederick is supported by a well selected cast which is allied with the drama with the skill so characteristic of Director Nisato. The exterior scenes were taken in the most beautiful section of Florida. Their magnificence adds greatly to the total charm of this superb Famous Players production.

Cosy Today.

A mother's sacrifice for her son is shown in the appealing drama, "Two Mothers," at the Cosy today, and is sure to touch the hearts of everyone who sees it. G. Raymond Nye portrays the results of deep brooding on one subject, an imaginary wrong, in the "Wave Man," a drama of the underworld which with the comedy, "Standing on the Green," completes today's bill at the Cosy.

SHE WEARS A NEW GOWN IN SPITE OF THE STORY

Pay Tischer plays a Raminuffin in "Mr. Goode, the Samaritan," but dons a Black and White dress Creation Anyhow.

Pay Tischer, who is to put it paradoxically one of the best-dressed young women on the screen off the screen, sacrificed all chance for sartorial glory when she took the part of the ragamuffin pickpocket in De Wolf Hopper's third Triangle vehicle, "Mr. Goode, the Samaritan." But Miss Tischer is artist enough to do whatever she does well and to like to do it. Her crook costumes are triumphs of comedy characterization in clothes. At the last she does have a chance to wear a little evening frock, she designed it herself, of course, and an odd variation on the familiar "Tischer" black-and-white combinations. This time instead of stripes she used big black circles on a white background. Incidentally Miss Tischer discovered a rare chance for a real characterization in this part, and in it she does some of the best work of her career.

Temple Sunday and Monday.

De Wolf Hopper

in

Mr. Goode, The Samaritan

The two crooks knew De Wolf Hopper was easy—they knew they could have a good time on him and still be honest, so uninvited they went to stay at his home and broke up a perfectly good house party.

When the jewelry began to disappear there was a riot—an old-fashioned scramble to recover lost property.

The picture is a scream from beginning to end—Hopper more than lives up to his Broadway reputation—and you'll enjoy this comedy drama as you have never enjoyed a picture before.

In addition there's a swift-moving Keystone Comedy, so altogether you'll spend the evening laughing.
